BEST SUMMER CAMP

HEALTHBARN USA [WYCKOFF]

Who would have thought that a nutrition camp for kids and teens would be so fantastic? Well, couple the talents of the "Barn's" CEO Stacey Antine and the beautiful landscape of Abma's Farm in Wyckoff, and you have a sure winner. Kids learn to grow a healthy garden, cook nutritious meals, and even take part in an eco-friendly, fashion show. Summer was never so fabulous.

BEST TOUCH OF PARIS

LATOIR [RIDGEWOOD]

The last time I saw Paris ...well, that was many moons ago. But Latour in Ridgewood takes me back. Be sure to park your car on the west side of the railroad tracks in town, walk through the underpass and emerge into what feels like a charming street in Paris. Chef-owner Michael Latour completes the illusion with a magnificent menu and a French country ambience that delights the senses. Wait staff allows you ample time to savor your meal – further contributing to the gastronomic splendor of the experience. Toujours Latour.

BEST BREAKFAST

STEVE AND ANDREA'S [RUTHERFORD]

My husband, Bill, and I lived in Rutherford for seven years when we were first married. It seems like just about every Saturday morning we would cross the street from our Park Avenue condo and take a seat at Steve and Andrea's for a delicious breakfast. In the summer, we would often order sandwiches to take with us for a day trip to the beach in Spring Lake and sometimes even stopped in for dinner. The brother-and-sister business is a Rutherford staple and one not-to-be-missed when visiting the town.

BEST FRESH
POTATO CHIPS

EL CID [PARAMUS]

Olé for El Cid – a Spanish restaurant with a diverse menu. A special treat are the mouth-watering potato chips that always leave you hungry for more – despite the heaping mound delivered tableside as a complement to almost every dish. No matter what you order, you can always request the chips. And, by the way, the sangria is pretty good too!

BEST ETHNIC SHOP

IRISH EYES IMPORTS [WESTWOOD]

Irish Eyes Imports may be gone from Ridgewood, but it remains a mainstay for all things Irish for the Duggan clan. Tara and Gene Callaghan have found a pot of gold in their Westwood digs and provide a wide variety of linens, woolens, pottery and jewelry from the Emerald Isle. And remember, everyone is Irish on St. Patrick's Day.
